7/15/16 S278 Agreements

Oxfordshire County Council is currently looking into how it can improve its communication with parishes regarding S278 Agreements it makes with developers. Mark Mulcahey, a representative from Blue Marble, the company with which Oxfordshire County Council is working in this respect, attended the meeting to discuss this process from the Town Council's point of view. Various concerns were raised by the councillors, the main concern being that although the Town Council did have some input at the initial planning stages of a proposed development, it had no involvement with OCC when the final details were being discussed. This had led, in some instances, to inappropriate road designs being put in place and the installation of bus shelters in locations where they were not needed. It was felt most important that when the details of such agreements were being discussed, OCC should include the Town Council in the discussions so that such occurrences could be avoided in the future.

Mark Mulcahey advised that his company was half way through the 10 week project. He would provide the Town Council with the outcome of the research carried out and any recommendations drawn up once the 10 week period had been completed.
